Hello again!

Many of you have responded asking about the picture of an 'upper' receiver to illustrate the requirement for "other" (frames and receivers) to have a background check.

Our sincere apologies for the mistake, you are all correct, upper receivers are not serialized. Only frames and lower receivers require a background check. We have updated our presentation with the following corrections:

Thank you,

Kevin

Good morning!

After last month's survey results were in, we found that we needed to get quite a bit more information out to you all.

Please see the attached presentation that we believe covers all the questions, comments, and survey data. If you have any further questions or comments, please do not hesitate to reply to this email.

Thank you,

Kevin
