WSP trooper injured in shooting released from Harborview

SEATTLE, Wash. - Our Washington State Patrol (WSP) trooper seriously injured in a shooting on Feb. 16 in Kent was released from Harborview Medical Center in Seattle on Tuesday morning.

The trooper was escorted from the hospital by law enforcement personnel in honor of his service and showing our support for his continued recovery process.

Our trooper and their family appreciate the community's outpouring of support. They continue to ask for privacy as our trooper continues to heal.

Please Note: Another video will be released later today that will show more details from Harborview.
